

CHRISTINE ABBOTT

Christine Abbott is a Director of the Centre for Action Learning Facilitation and an independent action learning facilitator based in the U.K. Her background is in the health and social care sector although more recently she has been engaged in action learning facilitation in the private sector in Europe, Morocco, Syria, China, USA and South America.

Christine, a former chairman, is a Director and Trustee of the Institute for Leadership and Management. Together with Mike Pedler her partner in the Centre for Action Learning Facilitation, she wrote the action learning qualification standards for OFQUAL the qualification regulatory organisation and has developed and delivered facilitator training with over 50 graduates in 2011/2. The ILM level 5 Certificate and Diploma is the only full internationally recognized qualification in action learning facilitation and is becoming the recognized standard when organizations are commissioning action learning programmes.